FOREWORD

What are your impressions of Miller? When you think of Miller what comes to mind —a favorite teacher, the stately, old building, sunny days on the east terrace, Fun Night, or a great feeling of pride in your school?

The 1964-1965 annual staff has tried to capture what it thinks are the impressions of the student body. The flaming torch symbolizes not only Features and Fun, the events to promote school spirit, but also Faces and Facts, the people who plan and take part in school life.

The staff hopes you will enjoy your annual as much as we enjoyed editing it. In the future, even more than now, we hope you can see the significance of your high school years.

CANDID IMPRESSIONS

As our deadline approaches, STAR STUDENT, Barbara Gibson, and her STAR TEACHER, Miss Mary Dozier, were announced.

Although we cannot give them the deserved recognition, we want to honor them in this small way.

SUPERLATIVES

A refreshingly cheerful dynamo of talent and energy tempered by her love for humanity. Unique in her expression of jovial greetings to classmates and of eloquent literary works.

Jan Clark

An unobtrusive, demure but athletically inclined young lady whose practicality and willingness to help are of great value.

Nancy Dupree

A modern interpretation of the old fashioned Southern belle—quiet, soft spoken, modest, slow and easy, thoughtful of others.

Nancy Nations

A vivacious, cheery imp full of mischief, spirit, and good intentions, who has a spontaneous, friendly grin accented by big dimples.

Sharon Simpson

An athletic, easy-going natural; known for her benevolence and independence. A realist who views everything objectively.

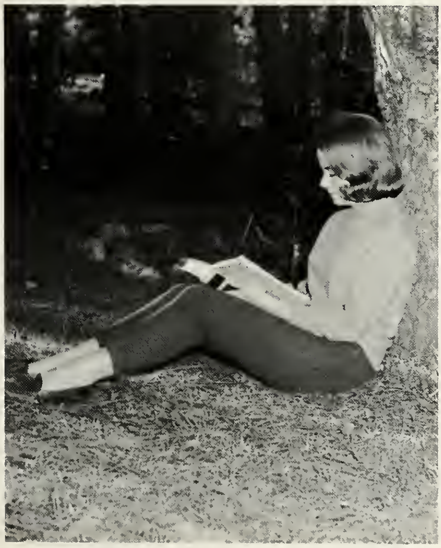
Jenny Robinson

A compact package of enthusiasm, good sportsmanship, and unbounded energy—the embodiment of class spirit with a deep concern for others.

Ginny Sutton

Her warm smile and quiet ways disguise her hidden strength and serious, independent nature. Slow to point out others' faults and ready to laugh at her own absurdities.

Gena Ware



Proper, polite, poised—truly a lady; and yet an ambitious, hard working idealist, capable of almost uncontrollable enthusiasm and excitement.

Carol Williams

A lively, talkative wit, true friend and hard worker with deep convictions and a love of people.

Barbara Williamson

Barbara Gibson

Virginia McSwain

NATIONAL MERIT FINALISTS

Ann Wilson

Norma Murdock

Selected by the Senior class and the faculty, BEST CITIZEN should typify all the qualities of an outstanding individual—leadership, loyalty, responsible patriotism, to name a few.

Miller chose well, for Jan embodies all these characteristics; she is truly MILLER'S BEST CITIZEN.

The University Center Language Association, composed of Representative from Ga. State College, Ga. Tech, the University of Ga., Agnes Scott, Emory University, and the Atlanta Art Association, has bestowed upon one of our teachers an outstanding honor. Because she has brought "distinction, enthusiasm, and effectiveness to the learning of the Spanish language," Miss Geraldine Jackson, chosen from among language teachers throughout Georgia, has been named this year's TEACHER OF THE YEAR IN SPANISH.

ADMINISTRATION

This annual will capture for you many happy memories. But in my mind's eye the class of '65 will live for its success in meeting momentous challenges and overcoming burdensome obstacles.

For these achievements I commend and congratulate you.
For the promise of your future I express faith and best wishes.
For the blessings that the five years of our association have brought I give you thanks.

LANIER

'65

TRENDS in every phase of school life transformed '65 into an electric year. There was electricity in the military . . . real leaders took command in September. They welded the corps into an outstanding unit in record time . . . and it remained that way!

Action—reaction!!! Mathematics courses were changed so drastically that every student felt the effect—all to the advantage of the students and to the school. Study time began to occupy former leisure time. Follow the year of '65 when TRENDS become a way of life at LANIER.

IN ACADEMICS

Stiffening of courses proclaims the New Trend in Academics . . . new texts and techniques prepare LANIER students for college entrance in the near future.

IN CLASSES

Individuals become real individuals . . . leaders appear . . . honors accrue to the top students in the school . . . and a record enrollment sets a trend.

IN MILITARY

Wednesday parades continue . . . the corps looks sharper than ever, as the officers concentrate on quality.

IN ORGANIZATIONS

Student Council is revamped . . . Pep Club injects true Lanier spirit among students . . . Annual staff strives to project the TRENDS of the year.

IN ATHLETICS

Swimming sets its premiere at Lanier, while basketball, football, and track vie for the top sport . . . golf and tennis keep up the pace.

IN ADVERTISEMENTS

Patrons prove their interest in Lanier and in its yearbook . . . advertisers continue the trend.

No phase of school life can fail to feel the excitement of a new trend . . . and at LANIER the cadets are perceptive, for from the Opening Assembly in September until the final strains of Auld Lang Syne, they reacted as the modern youth of today does when faced with new situations—with interest, cooperation, intelligence, and foresight. Academically, athletically, socially, and militarily, '65 was a different year from any preceding it . . . as long as youth faces its role in a changing world, the USA need not fear for the future . . . it will be in good hands.

Achievements,
And most of all
Enjoying his boys.

MR. PORTER SETS THE PACE AT LANIER

During the summer of '63 Mr. Porter began to display just that vigor needed to bring about a new trend at Lanier—ice water was made available on each floor; a new laundry was installed in the gym to provide fresh uniforms for all athletic teams; practice fields were made ready; and there are plans for '65!

Then Mr. Porter turned his attention to the new developments in mathematics—and every course was revamped. New math lab was installed, new textbooks were ordered, and new techniques were employed in order to keep ahead of the high school requirements in math courses. With vim and determination he consulted his science teachers and made certain that new equipment was added.

Here is a principal who does indeed set the pace—he led Lanier through a transitional period—he keeps Lanier students on their toes—in the lunchroom he takes time to praise, reward, and advise his boys and the faculty.—Here is the man who had set the pace for the New Trends.

TRENDS

IN THE CLASSES

1965 will go down in Lanier history
As the year of fine student body
A student body which was seldom Disgruntled, a student body which Contained some of the finest boys
Who have ever attended Lanier.
Rapidly, old and new students fell
Into the spirit of Lanier in '65.
There were fewer complaints,
More smiles, more signs of a happy
Group than there have been
In a long time.
These are the students of '65, the Record breaking year when over
1200 students enrolled at Lanier.
These are the students who made
The academics, the athletics, the Military and the organizations
Have quality in '65. These are the Boys who worked together, played
Together and upheld the honor
Of their school—together.
Here are the students of '65 who Formed close alliances and Friendships which won't be Forgotten, for they were based
On those intangibles in life
Which make people remember others
For the rest of their lives

TRENDS

IN MILITARY

In military schools, rank is as sought after as any other attainment. With reward of silver buttons as a goal—clean uniforms, brass shines, and good grades become a way of life to those cadets who aim for the heights.

Esprit de Corps becomes apparent when companies compete for honors in the weekly parade and in the intramural sports program.

Here are the cadets who live under a military system, who learn the meaning of leadership, and who develop into leaders as the year progresses.

TRENDS

IN ATHLETICS

This is THE YEAR! ... the year when the Lanier Football eleven constantly encountered bad luck from the opening loss to Northside.

Coming through with the finest varsity Basketball team in years, Coach Middlebrooks' hardwoodmen impressed with a 19—7 record.

New to Lanier was a swimming team which impressed spectators and combatants with their ability.

'65 was a fine year in athletics at Lanier.

BASKETBALL

The 1964-1965 edition of the Lanier High basketball team, under the capable guidance of veteran coach Henry Middlebrooks, compiled a magnificent 19—7 record, the best of a Lanier team in 15 years. Finishing 5th in a statewide poll of AAA teams, the Poet hardcourt men not only won the Heart of Georgia Tournament, but also captured four straight victories over crosstown rival Willingham. The Lanier basketballers have indeed set a trend we would like to follow for many years to come.

The Poets are shown below on their way to an unprecedented second straight triumph in the annual Heart of Georgia Tournament. Lanier was victorious over Cochran, 71—59, and Northside, 62—60, and climaxed the tournament by trouncing Willingham in the finale.

Tom Cornelius bombs one f

Jimmy Corbitt hits for two against Cochran.

Perhaps the most exciting game of the year took place when the Poets handed the LaGrange Grangers their first loss of the year. Porter Gymnasium was in a state of frency as the Poets came from behind to deadlock the game at the end of regulation play. Mere bedlam broke out as the Poets eased by LaGrange, 59—56, in overtime.

ircle against Willingham.

The 1964-1965 Poet cagers handed their crosstown rivals four defeats, thus extending Lanier's winning streak over the Rams to nineteen. The Poets literally mopped the Rams off the floor as they continued a Lanier tradition set many years ago.

Capt. Frank Kelly continues the assault against the Rams.

Frank Kelly tries to "pull one out" during the Cochran game.

Van Hale displays perfect shooting form as he literally dares No. 23 to block his shot.

Terry Johnson executes a beautiful dive.

TANKMEN SEASON

In our first full year of competition, this team has moved from total insignificance to sixth place in Georgia purely because of the determination, courage, and spirit of its members. Records have been established which will stand for many years. I only hope that more boys will come out for swimming next year to help replace the large gaps our graduating seniors have left.

Gil Bateman and David Eubanks take off on the start of a practice run, hoping to improve their times.

TRENDS

IN ORGANIZATIONS

Over thirty organizations were spotlighted as they functioned throughout the year.
Poet Leader deadlines pressed staffers for time and Annual staff members worked to meet their deadlines, too.
History, science and language club members acquired a deeper knowledge in academic areas, while future farmers profited from clubs especially designed for them.
A new club was established as student interest widened into the fields of drama.
Enthusiasm and interest in the school and its functions was encouraged by the Pep Club.

Club advisors, officers and committees worked to provide stimulating programs, inviting speakers, showing slides and other various projects.

The trend in '65 among the organizations was toward—QUALITY!

THE LANIER ANNUAL STAFF

Putting together a yearbook is a pleasurable task. The result touches each student, receiving varied opinions and many signatures. From the time work began in the summer to the deadline in spring, eleven minds directed blue pencils, page layouts and copy thoughts for the copies to be printed. It is a taxing job at times to find a variety of layouts to hold student interest. The strain of the difficult moments aided the staff in meeting deadlines. Helping hands and bright humor not only alleviated tension, but induced unforgettable times. In spite of occasional parties and relaxed days, the ever-present deadlines meant work, work every sixth period, after school and occasionally on Saturdays and Sundays. As the year slipped by the day of publication approached. Waiting for the finished product, the editors worried. The pride and pleasure shared was the real award for the year's labor.

MERCER UNIVERSITY
Founded in Penfield, Georgia, January 14, 1833, as Mercer Institute, Mercer University, the "oldest child" of the Georgia Baptist Convention, has been the chief source of Baptist ministerial and lay leaders through the years. Among the many notable Baptists who established this institution, three stand out: Josiah Penfield, whose legacy launched the movement; Jesse Mercer, who nurtured and supported the project; Billington M. Sanders (Old Miss), who, with Cynthia Holliday Sanders, fostered it through the first seven years. Mercer was one of the few colleges in the South that remained open during the War Between the States and the only one for men in Georgia. It was moved to Macon in 1871.
